EAGLES S.O.A.R
(Safe Organized Accountable Respectful)

Dear East Lake Parents and Caregivers,

This week I was reminded of the importance of “showing up” and being present. For East Lake students, this looks like attending school each day, being in the learning space as much as possible and feeling open to new learning experiences. This sounds simple and is truly a big factor for student learning and success.

As a parent of younger children, I understand the many demands that life places on parents, young people, and families. Routine is big. Getting up in time to eat breakfast, to feel organized (do we have both mitts, a toque, snow pants, a lunch?) and to have enough time to safely get to school is helpful. I find our few minutes in the car is a great time to verbally set my kids up for the day regarding anything that they are excited about, worried about or simply want to share.

Things come up, people get sick and have appointments - this is life. Communication is key. A reminder that if your Eagle will be away, please let the school know so that we are not worried and can plan re-entry into learning appropriately. If we can minimize time out of the classroom, teachers have more time to support your Eagle on their learning journey.

Eagles are Safe, Organized, Accountable and Responsible. All these terms can be connected to the process of getting to school and being prepared for an engaging day of learning.

Thank you for all you do “behind the scenes” to help your Eagle have a great day.

In partnership,

Amanda Schultz, M.Ed
Principal, East Lake School
